

Museum to Host Author and Illustrator of New Children's Book

*Free activities scheduled to celebrate 'Gifts from Georgia's Garden:
How Georgia O'Keeffe Nourished her Art' Family Day on July 14*

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE—June 21, 2024 (Santa Fe, NM)—Family Day at the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum on Sunday, July 14, will include author Lisa Robinson and illustrator Hadley Hooper, of the new children's book Gifts from Georgia's Garden: How Georgia O'Keeffe Nourished Her Art. The brand-new release takes readers behind the scenes of Georgia O'Keeffe's life in New Mexico, where her garden played a pivotal role in the artist's work and lifestyle. The book explores how plants enriched the soil, her home-grown feasts fed her friends, and how it all inspired the artist's creativity. The book also addresses the era's prejudice against female artists and how O'Keeffe was able to live and thrive in her verdant sanctuary, surrounded by her garden, well into old age.

Participating families can join Family Day at the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum, 217 Johnson Street in Santa Fe. New Mexico residents and participating families enjoy free admission all day, from 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM, on Family Days. Everyone can create and imagine with Robinson and Hadley during a schedule of free events including:
